

Incorporation Company Celebrates Success with New Website

IncFile.com, LLC, has achieved great success over the past two years providing incorporation services to young businesses. It is celebrating its ten thousandth business formation with the grand opening of a totally redesigned Website, IncFile.com, on November 15th. The incorporation service company specializes in the formation of Corporations and Limited Liability Companies in all 50 states, and offers customized business advice to all its clients.

Houston, TX (PRWEB) December 5, 2005 -- The Website has not only gotten a new look, but also a new name. Formerly BizForward.net, IncFile.com's new site, IncFile.com, offers numerous previously unavailable tools and features for both current and prospective clients.

IncFile.com enables clients to order Corporations, Limited Liability Companies, and Corporate/LLC kit stand-alones at prices that are considered extremely competitive. The ordering process is streamlined to eliminate the need to re-enter any redundant information, and the new website is connected to a payment gateway that handles all billing with 128 bit, real-time encryption. These features make it possible to complete most orders in less than four minutes. In addition, IncFile.com, LLC, continuously updates clients to the status of their orders via email.

The new Website's in-depth Resource Pages offer specific information regarding each type of business entity, and the new Proprietary Quick Quote Feature estimates the total cost of state-specific Corporation or LLC formation—with personalized options. When combined, these two tools educate prospective clients on their needs and probable costs of forming a corporation.

According to Nicolas Siha, a manager and member of IncFile.com, "our entity comparison chart allows prospective clients to determine the type of company that will best suit their needs, before obtaining a quote."
